

Plot Summary

After several days of in-depth exploration of the Hong Kong maritime industry, the four students have developed a strong desire to work in this industry. To further understand industry development and related manpower development policies, they will visit the Maritime Services Training Institute, and meet Ms Carmen Chan, the first Hong Kong female to qualify as a Captain of ocean-going vessels, and Li Ying, a student at the Institute. They discover that women can also make significant contributions to the maritime industry.
